

Park ten bikes in one car space

Bike corrals provide more parking for more customers

Providing space for pedestrians and a place for footpath trading can be difficult, and what about the bikes? Sometimes the smartest solution is to change a car parking space into bicycle parking spaces.

A bike corral is an on-street bicycle parking structure that fits into a parallel car parking bay. It provides bike parking for ten or more bikes. They are a great way to show that your business takes sustainability seriously and have shown to bring in the customers during 2 trials in Brunswick in 2011

Surveys conducted in Brunswick have shown that cyclists using the corral spend more than the motorists occupying the car parking space nearby. One reason for this is that cyclists are short stay shoppers who live locally

If you are interested in providing more bike parking outside your shop or potentially having a bike corral installed email info@moreland.vic.gov.au. All we ask for is a little help keeping the corral free of litter.

Bike corrals, one more way Council is supporting local businesses and encouraging sustainable travel.
